PRESS RELEASE

ORACA Establishes Access to High Net Worth Investors

London, 8th July 2009 – Independent equity research house, ORACA, today announced that it had established a relationship with a specialist partner providing the company with access to High Net Worth Investors (HNWI).

Christopher Nicholson, Director and Lead Equity Analyst, ORACA said: "There are an estimated 4,500 entities across the US and UK with assets under management (AUM) of £600bn in the High Net Worth market and we believe that to date they have been poorly served by truly independent research. This deal changes that and opens up a lucrative new market for ORACA."

He continued: "The distribution of our research will be done solely under our partner's brand. ORACA will not be involved in raising funds via our partner's network. However, we can offer certain classes of corporate client access to this new network via our specialist partner as part of a full service offering, including pan-European and US institutional access."....
